List 3 adjectives to describe yourself: _____, _____, _____

any Computer Science, IT.

What are you considering for a college major? _____

Do you have any leadership experience? (within a club, a sport, a job, volunteering, tutoring)

I have been the highest leader a scout can be in Boy Scouts for 2 years(currently).

What are your personal goals?

I strive to become an Eagle scout, the highest boy scout rank, to become an intern at a large-scale company, and to develop something that is used for years to come, whether it be a game or technology.

Other than English, what other language(s) are you fluent in? Gujarati and Hindi

What are your proudest accomplishments academically?

Not really too many, my grades are usually just below honor roll because of German.

What are your proudest accomplishments personally?

My many medals from excelling in races, even with my serious permanent injuries.

In what areas have you shown the most development and growth during the past 3 or 4 years?

Are there any unusual or personal circumstances which have affected your educational experience or personal life?

I have a unique ailment which doctors have not figured out why, where I have pain in my back and legs all throughout. I also have migraines and depressive episodes if not depression.

Is your academic record an accurate measure of your ability and potential? Explain.

I don't think it is. School really isn't an accurate representation of my ability, it's not the kind of environment that works with me. I could have been such a better runner if I never was injured this way, and it really affects my mental state. It would especially difficult in my sophomore year, when I was stricken with stomach pains, migraines, back pains and leg pains, and my running career abruptly over. It didn't really help that my parents both didn't understand and didn't support me.

What personality traits do you possess which make you outstanding? (i.e. perseverance, independence, patience, etc.) Explain.

I would say some sort of perseverance, where I was put through this torture and still able to appear normal to those around me. I'm able to shoulder the darkness of others without giving away my own sadness to others. In this way, I appear to be a strong, unwavering pillars to others and why I take on leadership roles.

What is your greatest strength and how have you used it?

This is very similar to the other question, but also I have an interest in certain things. I'm want to go into Comp. Sci. because it interests me. It's something I'll truly be happy in.
